ASTOR'S BODY RESTS
IN COUNTRY HOME
AWAITING FUNERAL

Today the Young Widow
Will Remain in Seclusion
With Her Dead.

RHINEBECK, N. Y., May 2.—The body of Col. John Jacob Astor rests in the reception room of his estate, Ferncliffe-on-the-Hudson.

With the fortitude of a Spartan woman, Mrs. Madeleine Force Astor, the beautiful young widow, was waiting in the great mansion when the body was brought in upon the shoulders of life-long servants. Today the young widow will be in seclusion with her dead.

The sorrow of the younger widow did not prevent her sympathy for others. She remembered Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, the first wife of Colonel Astor, and through a close friend sent her an invitation to attend the funeral. She was asked to come to the ancestral home as a member of the family. Although deeply appreciating the kindness of Mrs. Madeleine Force Astor, the first Mrs. Astor will not come, but her daughter, Muriel, will be here tomorrow.

A special train with many invited guests from New York city will come up tomorrow morning. Twenty-three automobiles will convey them from the Rhinebeck station to Ferncliffe, a little more than two miles.

At noon on tomorrow the body will be carried into the little Episcopal Chapel of the Mesiah, in the old revolutionary village of Rhinebeck. The church is to be thrown open to every resident of Rhinebeck, Rhinecliff and vicinity that they may pay tribute to the memory of Colonel Astor.

The services following the ritual will be conducted by the village rector, the Rev. Dr. Saunders.

Although it has been generally understood that the interment would be made in the new Trinity Cemetery in New York city, it was reported here tonight that Colonel Astor's body would be placed in the Armstrong vault in this village. This will be its temporary resting place until a mausoleum can be built to receive it.

Millett's Body Is Cremated and Ashes
Taken to Family Home

BOSTON, May 2.—The bodies of Frank D. Millett, the artist, and Richard P. Winchell, of Woburn, Mass., who were drowned when the Titanic sank, arrived here today from Halifax. The body of Percival W. White, father of R. P. White, was not recovered. J. B. Millett, a brother of the artist, accompanied the body from Halifax. The body was removed to the chapel at Mt. Auburn, where the funeral took place this afternoon. Services were conducted by the Rev. Charles E. Park, of the First Unitarian Church, Boston, and the Pilgrim Quartet sang, with Warren A. Locke, a classmate of the artist in Harvard, at the organ. The pallbearers were Levering Hill, Harvard, 19, and Thomas P. Best, Joseph S. Buelow, and William B. Hill, members of the class of '09. Grand Army Post No. 68, of Dorchester, sent an American flag, which draped the coffin, on which rested a large wreath, the gift of President Taft. The body was afterward cremated, and tomorrow the ashes will be interred at Bridgewater, the Millett family home.

ROAD DETECTIVES
CAPTURE ROBBERS

Young Thieves Are Brought Before Alexandria Court and Punished for Taking Property of Southern Railway.

WASHINGTON TIMES BUREAU.

Officials of the Southern Railway here have for some time past been worried by constantly recurring thefts of brass and other metals from their rolling stock. The entire detective force concentrated its attention on this feature, resulting in two convictions in police court today.

Clyde Sullivan, a young white man, was arraigned in police court on this charge. It being testified that he had taken a quantity of brass piping from an engine. It was valued at $6.50. Sullivan asserted he had found it in the yards. Justice Caton, after inquiring into the young man's previous behavior, imposed a fine of $20, remarking that a much more severe punishment would have been imposed had there been any evidence of a previous offense.

George Hill, a twelve-year-old colored boy, was brought up on a similar charge. It was stated he had entered an engine, stripping it of all metal easily dislodged. He was sentenced to the reform school.

It is stated equipment of trains is often "lifted," so as to disable it. There have been instances where an airplane lever has been stolen from a locomotive, while under steam.

W. A. Smoot, Jr., has flatly denied the general report to the effect that he would become a candidate for mayor in the general election on an independent ticket, opposing Thomas A. Fisher, who at Tuesday's primary, was declared the nominee of the Democratic party. Mr. Smoot asserts he had no such intention, and in view of Mr. Fisher's nomination, would use every effort in his interest.

At the monthly meeting of the school board last night, Harry Kirk was appointed a member of that body to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Robert Snowden. The board also ordered suitable resolutions of respect to the memory of Mr. Snowden to be published.

In reply to the question raised by the local ministerial association in reference to the use of the pable in the public schools, it was voted there was no rule of the board in this matter, its use being entirely optional with the instructor.

James Mason, colored, was arraigned before Justice Edmund Clark in Alexandria county yesterday afternoon on a charge of entering the house of William Hamilton, at Four Mile Run, and stealing clothing. He was sentenced to three months on the public roads at hard labor.

At a meeting held at Alexandria Court House, in the county this morning, the Alexandria county Democratic committee made arrangements for the public mass meeting Wednesday for the purpose of naming four delegates to attend the Norfolk State convention May 27. Walter U. Varney, secretary of the body, stated 424 applications had been filed with him.

Floyd G. Saunders has sold to James

Brown against the same company yesterday, a jury found a verdict of $175 for the plaintiffs. Judgments by default were granted against the engine company in six other suits.

Canton Alexandria, Order of Patriotic Militant, last night held its first drill in full uniform. Three candidates were admitted to membership.

Potomac Lodge of Odd Fellows will this evening confer the initiatory degree of the order upon a class of candidates.

Mr. Vernon Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at a meeting Monday, will set the date for the dedication of the drinking fountain at Cameron and Royal streets, which the Chapter donated to the city.

Mrs. Jessie P. Board, widow of B. F. Board, has sold the residence at Oronoco and Washington streets to Arthur H. Bryant, the sale being made through Monroe & Marbury.

STEPS LOW ENOUGH
FOR SOCIETY GIRLS
MINUS THE HOBBLE

Delegation of Women Declares Cars Are Easily
Boarded By Femininity.

The new side entrance car of the Washington Railway and Electric Company would have had its low steps measured against the handicap of hobble skirts yesterday if only the women specially invited to ride had worn skirts cut on that plan. But Miss Janet Richards, leader of the low car step fight and the other guests did not appear in hobble skirted gowns because, well, they simply don't wear them.

But as to convenience of entrance, the women guests, who included Mrs. Richard Sylvester, wife of the chief of police and Mrs. Cuno Rudolph, wife of the District Commissioner, besides others, declared that the steps are low enough to suit them, and this is the question which company officials headed by Superintendent J. T. Moffet wished settled.

"The steps are low enough," chorused the guests of the trip who left Ninth and G street at noon in the car for a ride to the end of the Lincoln Park line and return.

HEALTH OFFICER
ADVISES PUBLIC TO FIGHT MOSQUITO

"Disease Breeder," Says Dr.
Woodward, In Advocating Warfare on Insects.

"In campaigning against the fly don't overlook another disease breeder—the mosquito," his is the advice of Health Officer W. C. Woodward, who is an advocate of a systematic warfare against the smaller insect.

"The mosquito is easier rid of than the fly, for the reason that it only breeds in water," said Dr. Woodward. "To escape the insect it is necessary to destroy its breeding places. Fill up the small ponds and pools of stagnant water in your neighborhood."

The District at present is without funds to fight the mosquito, but the Commissioners on recommendation of Health Officer Woodward included in their estimates an item of $50 for the purchase of kerosene and its application to the stagnant pools and ponds in the District. The appropriation was included in the District appropriation bill as passed by the Senate and it not stricken from the measure before its final passage will be available July 1. The law prohibits accumulations of stagnant water on vacant lots and the Health Department is conveying daily to the owners of property notices to correct the nuisances.
